

2009 Peace Convocation Contact and Information

Recently Franci Candlin sent out an E News announcing this year's Peace Convocation scheduled for September 25-27 at the Flying Dog Ranch in Carbondale, Colorado at the base of majestic Mt. Sopris.

I would like to let you know that I will be at your service this year with information regarding lodging, airports and questions in general. You may email me and I will be making my phone number available.

Airports

Aspen airport, in Aspen, Colorado, is about a 30 minutes away from Carbondale. Very reasonable prices flying into Aspen in late September can be found as the summer tourist time is winding down and it is not yet ski season.

Eagle-Vail airport, in Eagle, Colorado, is about 50 minute away from Carbondale. This drive will take you through the beautiful Glenwood Canyon along the Colorado River. A gorgeous and spectacular drive any time of year. Again reasonable rates apply to flying into this airport this time of year.

Grand Junction airport, in Grand Junction, Colorado, is approximately 125 miles to Carbondale.

Denver airport, in Denver, Colorado, is approximately 178 miles to Carbondale. This drive shows off much of Colorado's beauty over the Continental Divide and two major mountain passes. The fall colors will be beginning and the Aspen trees are breathtaking. This time of year is indeed Colorado's gold rush.

Lodging

This year we will responsible for our own lodging accommodations. I will be emailing complete information on availability of Hotels. There are plenty; two hotels in Carbondale and others in Glenwood Springs.

So stay tuned. It is Convocation Time!

Thank-you and blessings,

Theresa Holahan
